TRUE BLUE AMERICAN.

The genuine American is such without conscious inquiry into his own qualifications. His son grows up in a familiar atmosphere which does not enable him to observe genuine Americanism as sharply defined against a background of foreign ideals and custom. Doubtless this accounts for the interesting fact that Isadore Goldenbaum, a boy born in old Jerusalem under the rule of the Turks, has produced a better definition of a real American citizen than any of his thousands of native-born mates in the lower schools of New York. Lieut-Col. Theodore Roosevelt, judge in the prize essay contest conducted by the Rotary Club, has given the award to Isadore's definition, which he says even learned grown ups could not improve on. And, so far as understanding of true essentials is concerned, it will be widely agreed that the Colonel is right, for Isadore wrote:

"Mr. William Edwards, our next door neighbor, is, I think, a most ideal American citizen. Every time I see him it sets me to thinking hard. He is a tall, hardy, muscular man and very healthy indeed. He is in business for himself and he deals very justly and wisely in his transactions with other men. Although very considerate, he has that strong Yankee habit of true, fair business. He never raises prices on his goods when unnecessary, as other men do. He pays his taxes on time and he pays the right amount, too. He closes up his place at eve full of pep and joy of living and giving and having a favorable day. He is a sober, law-abiding and law assisting citizen. When election comes he votes, not as his party boss directs, but as his own reason and sound judgment direct. If he meets with any adversity he doesn't grumble or mumble, for he is a good sport. He never falls for any anarchist's stuff. He is a true blue American.

THE SALVATION ARMY

No questions asked:

Did you ever stop to think what that meant to the man who is down—the chap who, perhaps a little weaker than his fellows, had slipped a bit on the path that declines? Or to the unfortunate girl who had fallen and was frowned on by society?

All too few of us remember those words written by Him indelibly upon the sands, "let he among you who is without sin cast the first stone."

The Salvation Army does not cast stones first or later. Neither does it inquire why, a man has sinned. Nor why he is down. It picks him up, and helps. It asks no questions.

Evangeline Booth, commenting on this once said, "I have noticed when a horse falls down on the icy pavement, the street car stops; a man—a second, a third, and a fourth—pats the horse on the neck and says, 'Whoa boy!' and no one asks the horse how he happened to fall. But in our treatment of our fellow man, when he is down, before we ever attempt to help him up, we inquire how he came to fall down and what was in him to make him fall."

It is because the Salvation Army helps without asking, and because people know that it asks no questions that this great organization has come to win so large a measure of confidence and understanding among the fellows who are "down but never out." And that is one of the reasons why the Salvation Army is able to be of such real service to mankind in Washington county and other communities.

AMOS AND HIS FORTY-SEVEN

The close of the Republican National convention was the signal to the Committee of Forty-eight to announce that their would be a third party in the field. Positively, says Amos Pinchot, speaking for his forty-seven colleagues, remarks the New York Sun.

Of course the Forty-eight are "going to have a definite and constructive programme." Such programmes are their long suit. Every Forty-eighter has a newer, more definite and vastly more constructive programme every morning. If programmes were raising the Forty-eighters could equip a thousand cellars.

Last September the Forty-eight had a programme. "They," it declared—and of course "they" means the two large political parties—"have ignored our right to a decent living for a day's work." Thus said Amos Pinchot and David Starr Jordan and Bill Hard and Glenn Plumbs and forty-four other perspiring toilers. By this time the programme must be improved so as to demand a month's decent living for a day's talk.

The Forty-eight will be certain to have sound planks in their platform; brotherly love, Federal regulation of tennis rules, full liberty of jazz, conservation of the marshmallow swamps, free flower vases for the limousines of the downtrodden and and the daily taxation of the Glutted interests at the rate of 101 per cent.

If there were thirty-two political parties in his country the Committee of Forty-eight would solemnly greet the thirty-third.

NEWSPAPER TROUBLE

One of the most serious features of the famine in news print paper was brought to attention the other day by the head of the American Press Association. That is, the danger tha a large proportion of the small country papers will be compelled to cease publication. There is no doubt that they are relatively much harder hit than the big city dailies, and there is also no doubt that for them to cease publication would be an unspeakable calamity to the country.

The village weekly paper may be a favorite butt of the metropolitan jokesmiths, but the fact is that it is proportionately of more importance than the biggest city paper. That is to say, a hundred rural papers with a thousand subscribers each exert greater influence than a single paper with a circulation of one hundred thousand subscribers. It would be a great misfortune to have the country press sacrificed to the insatiate demands of the metropolitan journals for stock enough for "jumbo" editions which are sumply a burden to the purchasers.

ENGLAND'S MEANEST MAN

A woman who declared in court that her husband was the meanest man in England had unusual grounds for the charge. During the sugar shortage, she said, she kept his personal supply of sugar in a separate bowl, which he left every morning with a fly in it and the cover on. If the fly was not there when he came home at night, he jumped to the conclusion that somone had taken some of his sugar, and he was very disagreeable about it. It is a pity that his wife or some one else did not substitute a hornet for the fly.

SOUND AND CLEAN

Frank A. Munsey, owner of the New York Sun-Herald, in speaking of the Chicago ticket, speaks thus of Senator Harding: "As a sound, clean, human man Senator Harding, like McKinley, looms large. We would welcome such a man in the White House again. With Harding as President that historic mansion would open wide its doors, let in the sunlight and bid welcome to the world."

Herbert Hoover is out in a statement in which he assures Senator Harding that he will support him in the present campaign to the fullest extent of his ability, and advises all Republicans to line up behind the ticket nominated at Chicago. Democratic papers which were boosting the candidacy of Mr. Hoover a short time ago arenow strangely quiet when the name of Mr. Hoover is mentioned.

Senator Harding, Republican candidate for President, says: "This is not a one-man government, but I will say this: If I become chief executive I can assure you I will ever be mindful that this is a democracy.

BUG-OLOGY
What do you call them?

Bedbug (Cimex lectularius). The origin of the name bedbug is unknown, but is supposed to be naturally suggested as it is descriptive. There are many local names for these parasites, as for illustration, around Boston they are called "Chinches," from Baltimore comes the name "Mahogany Flat," in New York they are styled as "Red Coats," around Pittsburgh they are called "Peaky Devils," in Cincinnan and the South, "Nightriders," in St. Louis and Chicago district, "Crimson Ramblers," the great West "Pilgrims." The old saying, "the bedbug has no teeth, but they get there just the same," is correct. Instead of teeth they possess a piercing and suckling beak to draw and rob you of your blood for their own body.

Bedbugs, no matter what you may call them, or where they came from, science has found a way to rid them if you will use faithfully the new chemical Peaky Devils Quietus "P. D. Q." A 35c package makes one quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants or cootes, and their eggs as well. P. D. Q. will not injure bedding, and each package contains a patent spout to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at-places. Impossible for Peaky Devils to exist where P. D. Q. is used.

DOCTOR'S THRILLING STRUGGLE WITH DEATH IS VICTORIOUS

Fierce Battle with Grim Spectre Brings Health to Dr. Reese and a Message of Hope to Millions of Sufferers

After Dr. H. V. Reese had suffered for 10 years and been told by the greatest stomach specialist in the country that there was no hope for his recovery, he determined to spend his remaining days in experimenting upon himself in an endeavor to develop a remedy for sufferers from stomach, liver and kidney troubles such as himself.

Dr. Reese's condition at this time was so critical that it was impossible for him to retain food in his stomach, it being necessary to wash that organ out two or three times a day. This in addition to the severe liver and kidney trouble which generally accompanies stomach trouble.

After months of heart breaking failures and with his condition growing worse, Dr. Reese finally hit upon the Formula which is now known as The Reese Formula R-11 that completely restored his health.

This happened in 1898, twenty-one years ago. Today at the age of 73 years Dr. Reese weighs 175 pounds, forty pounds more than he ever weighed in his life is hale and hearty and possesses more vigor than most men of fifty.

Friends and users of The Reese Formula R-11 finally persuaded Dr. Reese to put his remedy on the market, ready-compounded at a price within the reach of everyone. This he has at last done.

This great medicine is not a Patent Medicine, the ingredients contained in the Formula goes with each bottle.

Anyone suffering from indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, backache, lumbago, sleeplessness, sour stomach, heartburn, urinary, kidney or liver trouble of any kind will do well to stop in at their drug store and talk their case over with their druggist who will explain to sufferers the merits of The Reese Formula R-11. It costs you not one penny to do this and you are under no obligation whatsoever.

If you want further information, write us, letting Medical Advisor, Reese Formula Co., Huntington, W. Va.

The Reese Formula R-11 is sold in Charleroi by all druggists, or at Hennings' Drug Store.

POTATO SPRAYING NOW UNDER WAY

Co-operative potato spraying was conducted last year in six Pennsylvania counties. This summer similar operations will be undertaken in no less than fifty-two counties. Thirty agricultural students from Penn State started out last week to begin work that will turn hundreds of dollars in profits to the owners of the 3,000 farms included in this year's work.

This enormous increase in the number of farmers desiring cooperative potato spraying is considered by extension workers to be nothing less than phenomenal. Last year the average gain in yield per acre from this spraying was 37.6 bushels. The greatest gain was 61.5 bushels per acre at a cost of only $8.45; the lowest was 11.8 bushels per acre at a cost of $8.03. Sprayed potatoes average 191.7 bushels per acre while unsprayed ones in the same field averaged 154.1 bushels.

MINORS EMPLOYED MUST HAVE CERTIFICATES

Representatives of the State Department of Labor and Industry call attention to the provisions of the act of May 13, 1915, commonly known as the Child Labor Law, which forbids the employment of persons between the ages of fourteen and sixteen years, even in vacation time, unless they have employment certificates issued by the authorities of the schools which they have attended

Many persons, employers of labor and otherwise, have been under the impression that such certificates were unnecessary during the vacation period and a large number of boys, especially, have been employed without first requiring them to present their certificates. Severe penalties can be imposed for violations of the provisions of this act.

NO COURT DURING THE BAR VACATION

The usual vacation of the Washington county bar will begin Monday, July 5. and Judge Brownson has announced that no court of any kind would be held for the six weeks during which it will last. The usual fal term of court will convene on the 16th of August.

One of the greatest of James Oliver Curwood's famous stories of the Canadian Northwest will be shown at Majestic theatre Thursday Friday and Saturday. It is different from anything previously produced and a picture of real merit. It is entitled "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" and is presented by a cast of all-star players, headed by Pauline Starke and Niles Welsh. Animals play an important part in this production. Baree, an outlaw dog, wild and ferocious, and Tara, a grizzly bear, are important characters. The atmosphere of the country north of 53 is faithfully reproduced in this production, which was directed by David Smith. The scenic backgrounds are of a kind that makes the production of a travelogue as well as one of the most intensely dramatic human interest stories ever screened. It is also an educational film, giving many interesting and unusual animal scenes. A bear fight, the mortal combat between two men, thrilling escapes and a genuine love interest are some of the high lights on the production.

SOME ONE BORROWED EDITOR'S TYPEWRITER

Editor Truxal of the Belle Vernon Enterprise, complains that some one has "borrowed" his typewriter, a machine that he has had in constant use for the past 25 years. The editor says that if the party who appropriated it cannot get along without the machine he is willing to donate the cover, the screw driver and other accessories, if the borrower will only address the editorial rooms of the Enterprise.

The days now begin to grow shorter.

When a traveler returneth home, let him not leave the countries where he hath traveled altogether behind him, but maintain a correspondence by letters with those of his acquaintance which are of most worth. And let his travel appear rather in his discourse than in his apparel or gesture; and in his discourse, let him be rather advised in his answers than forwards to tell stories; and let it appear that he doth not change his country manners for those of foreign parts, but only prick in some flowers of that he hath learned abroad into the customs of his own country.—Francis Bacon, Lord Verulam.

MOB'S ACTION SELDOM JUST

Henry Watterson Wrote Feelingly on the Brute Nature of Mankind, When Herded in Groups.

The people en masse constitute what we call the mobs. Mobs have rarely been right—never except when capably led. . . . It was the mob in Paris that made the Reign of Terror. Mobs have seldom been tempted, even though they had small chance to go wrong, that they have not gone wrong.

The "people" is a fetish. It was the people, misled, who precipitated the South into the madness of secession and the ruin of a hopelessly unequal war of sections. . . .

This is merely to note the mortal fallibility of man, most fallible when herded in groups and prone to do in the aggregate what he would hesitate to do when left to himself and his individual accountability.

Under a wise dispensation of power, despotism, we are told, embodies the best of all government. The trouble is that despotism is seldom, if ever, wise. It is its nature to be inconsiderate, being essentially selfish, grasping and tyrannous. As a rule, therefore, revolution—usually of force—has been required to change or reform it. Perfectibility was not designed for mortal man. . . .—Henry Watterson in "'Marse Henry,' an Autobiography."

FORGERY A CAPITAL OFFENSE

Under English Law It Was Punishable by Death Until Comparatively Recent Years.

Forgeries are not modern crimes. In 1552, the fifth year of Elizabeth's reign, the British parliament passed a special act against forgery "to amend the small, mild and easy punishment" then in force. By this act any person found guilty of forgery was sentenced to pay double costs and damages, was to be set in the pillory in some open market town, and there publicly to have both ears cut off, his nostrils slit and cut, and seared with a hot iron, "so as they remain for a perpetual mark of his falsehood," the unhappy forger to finally lose all his possessions and be imprisoned for life.

In 1634, according to Edward H. Smith, in the Saturday Evening Post, forgery was made a "capital offense without benefit of clergy," which meant that a man might not escape the gibbet on account of high birth in case he were convicted as a forger. This monstrous law remained in effect until 90 years ago, when many types of forgery were taken off the lists of capital crimes, along with such familiar offenses as burglary, brigandage, picking pockets and stealing bread.

Street Nomenclature.

The practice of giving numbers and letters instead of names to the streets and avenues of our cities is so familiar to us that it excites no thought, except of its convenience. But it is a practice often remarked upon by foreigners as peculiar to the United States and as evidence of the matter of fact, unimaginative character of our people.

Historical dates have been called picturesque names for streets. The French set the fashion in this respect. Paris has its Rue du 29 Juillet and its Rue du Septembre. This fad has spread even to South America. Buenos Aires has its Parque 3 du Febrero, its July Promenade, its 16th of November square and also its 25th of May street.

Tomb a Tramp's Home.

A tramp who had solved the present-day problem of where to live by taking up his abode in one of the old Roman tombs at Aries, on the Rhone, gave two Dutch tourists the fright of their lives.

They had gone out to see the remains by moonlight, when suddenly out of a tomb emerged a human form which the moon caused to appear exceedingly ghostlike. The tourists fled at top speed for the town, declaring that they had seen a resurrection. The "ghost" was interrogated by the police and will be prosecuted for the French equivalent of wandering without visible means of subsistence.

The secret of success is in oneself, not in "pulls," outside influence, capital. This is one of the reasons that the poor young man and young woman who find themselves utterly dependent upon their own effort are largely the ones who win out in life, because their very lacks drive them into themselves as their only chance.

The history makers are those who have been forced to make their own way in the world, compelled to "sink or swim," on their own initiative. They are the ones who have pushed civilization up.—Orison Swett Marden, in Chicago Daily News.

For a Traveler.

When a traveler returneth home, let him not leave the countries where he hath traveled altogether behind him; but maintain a correspondence by letters with those of his acquaintance which are of most worth. And let his travel appear rather in his discourse than in his apparel or gesture; and in his discourse let him be rather advised in his answers, than forward to tell stories; and let it appear that he doth not change his country manners for those of foreign parts; but only prick in some flowers of that he hath learned abroad into the customs of his own country.—Lord Bacon.

"LOTUS" PLANT A MYSTERY

Scientists in Disputa as to What Kind of Food Had Such Remarkable Effects.

What was the plant the "lotus eaters" ate, which so destroyed their "pep," strangers who visited their land and partook of the remarkable vegetable losing all desire to return to home and friends?

There has been no end of dispute on the subject. One thing is certain, however, is that it could not have been the Egyptian lotus, which within recent years has begun to be widely grown in water gardens. This plant develops tubers, deep in the mud, which are about the size of hens' eggs and good to eat, but the eating of them has no such deleterious effect as that above described.

The Egyptian lotus is a kind of water lily, whose superb flowers look like huge pink tulips. Once upon a time it grew wild along the banks of the Nile, and the surmise is that originally it was fetched from India, where it is native. It was regarded anciently as the emblem of the Nile, and the symbol of the creation of the world from the waters. To the Egyptians it was a sacred plant. They cultivated it in ponds and tanks, wreathing their heads with the blossoms on festive occasions.

The lotus has had a wonderful influence upon architecture. Its leaves and buds appear in the capitals of classic columns and in every sort of antique decorative carving it is the motif most frequently chosen. The art work of Japan (into which country it was imported) is inspired by it to a greater extent than by anything else in nature.

DEER PROFITABLE TO RAISE

Said to Require Little Care and Thrive on Diet of Weeds and Leaves.

Many years ago over most of the United States the deer roamed free and happy; but he has been hunted and driven back, to give place to the towns and cities, until, like the Indian, he is a rare sight. In the last few years, however, deer are growing in favor as an easy and profitable kind of stock to raise.

Deer can thrive where a goat would starve to death. They do not eat green grass until there is nothing else to eat. They will reach up six feet to get leaves from bushes and trees. No shelter is required in winter, as for other stock, as the deer prefer to stay out in the open.

Deer have their young in June, usually twins, except the first year. They are by far the healthiest animals there are. A deer is a great homebody. He likes to drink at his own drinking place.

Deer are very contented to graze with the cows, keeping the weeds down in the pasture.—Thrift Magazine.

Happiness Not Found in Crowds.

Contact with great crowds is no guarantee of happiness. Almost every man at some time or another gets the fever for the great city. If he could only mingle with the crowds that throng the streets and rub shoulders with multitudes striving for success or unlimited pleasures he would be sure to revel in happiness. How rude the awakening must be when he tries it. The great city doesn't know you have entered it. You may be the oracle of your own town but you may stand on the street of the city and watch the passers-by for hours at a time and no one will say a word to you. There is no more lonesome feeling in the world than that of feeling yourself alone in the midst of people. It's as bad as being thirsty in the middle of the ocean. Crowds do not give happiness.—Exchange.

Shakespeare as Poacher.

In the description of the amenities of the Shakespeare hotel, Stratford-on-Avon, which was recently put up at auction, the story is revived that Shakespeare came before Sir Thomas Lucy on a charge of stealing deer from Charlcote park. The charge is open to the comment that in the time of Elizabeth there was no deer park at Charlcote. To this it is retorted that deer were to be found in many parks not described as deer parks. As to all which it may be suggested that Shakespeare may have been brought before Lucy for stealing any deer within his jurisdiction.

Men's love of color can be traced to the dawn of history. Perhaps the rainbow offered itself as a color card to the Babylonians, Egyptians and the Chinese, for history reveals the fact that centuries before the Christian era color played an important part in their art and architecture. In Egypt water colors made of powdered pigments, mixed with gums and water, were used in the temples and on the monuments of the ancient dynasties. Specimens of Egyptian art color work are exhibited in the University of Pennsylvania Museum of Art; the earliest date back about 9,000 years.

What She Wanted to Say.

A small girl in a street car was trying to say something which her mother appeared to be greatly trying to suppress. Several times the little one started, and each time the mother leaned over to her and enjoined silence. When the mother thought her child had been effectually squelched the youngster blurted out: "I don't care. That lady over there says 'ain't' and it goes 'isn't.'"

Comfort for Night Workers.

In one of the New York hotels a floor is arranged for the use of those who work at night and sleep during the day. The "Sleepy Sixteenth," as the floor is nicknamed, is run on an inverted time table, with a separate staff, and its own restaurant, lift and telephone service. No one sleeping on this floor is called, except under special orders, until late in the day. Breakfast is served in the afternoon and the other meals are put back in the same way. All the routine work of cleaning and bedmaking is done after nightfall.

After the Refund.

A druggist's bell rang loudly in the small hours, and when he went down he was met by a placid man who asked for a bottle of soda water. The druggist's feelings were strong, but he resolved to do business: "Ten cents extra for the bottle," said he, "will be allowed on return." And he went back to bed. Two hours later the night bell rang again. Again the druggist went down. Again he was met by the placid man. "There's your bottle," said he, "gimme my ten cents."

Cool in Face of Death.

One of the most extraordinary cases of sangfroid on the scaffold occurred some time ago, when Macdonald, who murdered a Miss Holt, paid the penalty of his crime in England. The hangman had forgotten the white cap to place over the prisoner's eyes, and Macdonald, noticing what had happened, remarked to his executioner: "Put your hand in my breast pocket and you'll find a silk handkerchief. That will do to bind my eyes, won't it?

Handy Correspondence Cards.

"Ready made correspondence" cards have been in vogue in France for several years. On each card are printed some four dozen or so commonplace remarks with which holiday makers contrive to fill up a page of letter paper—"just arrived," "Weather bad," "This is a bad hotel," "Very dull here," "Jolly people," "Send me some money," and the like. One merely puts a cross against the sentence that expresses his sentiment.

Future Law of Peace.

Out of the fierce struggle and turmoil of contending systems and powers I see a brighter spiritual era slowly emerge—a era in which there shall be no England, no Germany, no France, no America, no this people or that, but one family, the human race; one law, peace; one need, harmony; one means, labor; one taskmaster, God.—Helen Keller.

Cause of "Shingles."

Cold sores, herpes, or shingles is a disease of the skin appearing as yellow vesicles. It may be trifling as on the lip, or acute, on the chest or face following pneumonia, pleurisy or other febrile conditions. The direct cause is some irritation of a nerve supplying that part of the skin.

MILLIONAIRE OIL MAGNATE IS OUTWITTED BY LOCAL MAN

J. C. Arnold Obtains for Trifling Sum Asset for Which Millionaire Offered a Million

J. C. Arnold, printer and linotype operator, of Huntington, W. Va., has as he says, the distinction of putting one over on the country's greatest oil magnate. In an interview Mr. Arnold tells the full details in a most interesting manner.

"About a year and a half ago," says Mr. Arnold, "I began having attacks of stomach trouble, which continued getting worse until my liver and kidneys were so affected that I was forced to quit work. I had been working night shift on an Akron paper and shifted without avail. I was taking medicine continually, first one doctor and then another but kept getting worse. "Every time a friend suggested a remedy I tried it, until at last some one recommended the Reese Formula R-11. By this time I had given up hope but began taking the Reese Formula R-11. I had no confidence in it or anything else. Imagine my surprise when after taking about half the first bottle my condition began to improve. I continued taking it and before finishing the third bottle I was completely restored. I am again working and feel better than I have for many years.

"The Reese Formula R-11," continued Mr. Arnold, "cost me a dollar and a quarter a bottle and considering the fact that a millionaire oil magnate offered a million dollars for a relief from stomach trouble I think I am some financier.

"But then people don't think they can get relief unless it is expensive. All I can say is that it only costs one dollar and twenty-five cents, the price of the Reese Formula R-11, to relieve stomach trouble, for my case has proven it.

BOARD OF TRADE SPONSOR FOR THE COMING CHAUTAUQUA

Asks Citizens Interested to Assist in Selling Tickets

GUARANTEE MUST BE RAISED

The Charleroi Board of Trade is sponsor for the Redpath Chautauqua which will be held in Charleroi beginning on Sunday, the 27th, and continuing until Saturday evening, July 3rd. The local organization took over the guarantee of the Chautauqua last summer, after the Lincoln circuit had closed their exhibition here, this arrangement then being considered more representative of the community.

However, there appears to be a dearth of Chautauqua sentiment in the community for the present series of entertainment and the Board of Trade realizes that the season is almost here and no tickets sold. The tickets should have been here several days ago, but by some miscue failed to arrive, which has been a handicap; in fact it appears that through some unforseen circumstances the campaign did not open here as it should.

Now it is realized that it will require considerable effort on the part of the promoters to dispose of the necessary number of tickets in order to reach the guarantee, and the citizens of the community who enjoy these series of entertainments are appealed to, that they come forward and lend their support to the work. Tickets for the entire course are sold for $2.75 for adults and $1.38 for children, this price including war tax.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Board of Trade with a representative of the Chautauqua, held at the borough building last night, it was decided to hold the entertainments at the pines, instead of the ball park, as first suggested. This change is made because of the confusion and noise which prevails about the ball park in the evening, as will as to the dangers at the crossing from passing trains.

The Board of Trade points out to our citizens that all tickets sold this week and before the opening of the Chautauqua will count on the guarantee; all sold thereafter will go direct to the Chautauqua, but will not be credited on the guarantee fund.

To reach the sum guaranteed will require that several hundred tickets be sold within the next few days, and to accomplish this undertaking will require the co-operation and assistance of a number of volunteer workers. Those who will take part in this undertaking are requested to notify officials of the Board of Trade.

ATTENDING CONVENTION AT SAN FRANCISCO

S. A. Barnum, of California, has left to attend the Democratic national convention, which assembles in San Francisco next Monday, June 28.

MOVE TO PROTECT PUBLIC ON PRODUCE DISPLAY

The health autorities of Donora and Monongahela are taking steps to compel fruit dealers to protect all vegetables and fruits displayed for sale from flies and dirt by covering them with a cheese cloth. Many complaints have been made by the residents of those two communities about the indifferent manner of dealers in these foodstuffs, and now the authorities aregoing to takea hand. Charleroi has had such regulations in force for a number of years.

ORDER INCREASES SUPPLY OF COAL

The prospects of a government embargo on coal, as well as orders from the Interstate Commerce Commission that for the next thirty days railroads must put the needs of mining companies on the priority list, will have an effect on the price of bitumen although topnotch figures still prevailed on Monday. However, there appears to be a tendency to a lowering of prices, which may reduce the selling figure to a great extent before the month is over.

On Monday a representative of the Pittsburg brokerage firm was offering 8.50 on track, although it was reported that $9.25 had been refused by some local loaders. The priority order of the Interstate Commerce Commission had an immediate affect on the condition of the trade, as it was reported that the car supply on Monday was about 75 per cent of the requirements. It is believed that a normal supply of cars will be available from this time on, and if this expectation is realized there will be little danger of any fuel famine in the northwest or in the New England states. However, the demand for coal is still acute and all that is offered is at once snapped up by buyers for brokerage houses.

MONESSEN PREPARES TO CELEBRATE THE FOURTH

Monessen is preparing to celebrate the Fourth at home, and on Thursday last signed acontract for a $1500 fireworks display. The money to pay for this display is now being raised and the committee anticipates no trouble in securing the amount. The program for the day, will embrace a baseball game in the morning between the high school and a picked team of business men, while in the afternoon teams representing Charroi and Monessen will compete for the mastery. A marathon race is also one of the features of the day.

Allegheny and Monessen To Play the Title Game

Officials of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic League Saturday morning, directed that the Allegheny High and the Monessen High base ball teams play off for the championship of the league. These two teams are tie for first honors, and efforts were made last week to play the deciding game, but weather conditions interfered. It then appears that Allegheny had fixed Friday last as the date for the final game, but Monessen was not advised of this fact and did not appear on the grounds at Tech field Pittsburg.

Saturday morning the officials called up both Monessen and Allegheny and said that the game would be played on the Charleroi grounds, Tuesday afternoon, play to be called at 4 o'clock, and the game to be in charge of officials named by the League. Coach Townsend of the Monessen team, called Superintendent Pollock of the Charleroi schools at one o'clock Monday afternoon and secured permission to use the dressing rooms at the Second street building for the players.

The local grounds are not in the best of shape for this game, as there has been but little playing on them this year. In addition two large poles placed for the benefit of the carnival by the West Penn company still remain in position and would be quite an obstruction to the field. In order to put the diamond in good shape these poles ought to be removed and the grounds scraped. The fences are also down in a number of places, and a "free gallery" is bound to be large if the game takes place.

MONESSEN WELL HAS GOOD FLOW OF GAS

The gas well on the Shepler farm, east of Monessen, promoted by Monessen parties, came in on Monday with an initial flow of about 1,500,000 cubic feet. The flow was struck in the fifty-foot, at 2020 feet, and the pressure increased as the drill kept going down. When the owners were informed of the "strike," they determined to cease drilling as soon as they had penetrated several feet into the producing sand, preferring a sure thing rather than take chances on striking it lower down in one of the other stratas. Many of the wells drilled back of Monessen, and up Webster hollow, are down over 3,000 feet, but the results in many cases have been disappointing. The Monessen company, profiting by the experience of others, deemed it best to quit drilling after penetrating several feet into the 50-foot rather than seek a greater flow at a lower depth.

MISSING GIRL WAS FOUND IN CLAIRTON

The 16-year-old girl, Bernice Roberts, who disappeared from her home at Mt. Tabor, near Roscoe, last Wednesday, was found by the Charleroi police at Clairton on Monday. The sisters of the missing girl appealed to Chief Albright and Officer that the girl was in Clairton. Officer Murphy on Monday, who, after running down certain clues, discovered that thegirl was in Clairton. Officer Murphy went down Monday evening and found the missing girl at the tome of Mrs. Edna Puglia at 502 Miller street, where she was caring for two children. She had assumed the name of Isabelle Lake, and as such was known to the woman by whom she was employed. Officer Murphy returned to Charleroi at 11 o'clock with the girl, who was detained at the borough building over night, and who was turned over to the custody of her sisters this morning.

NOTED LECTURER TO OPEN CHAUTAUQUA

Roscoe Gilmore, who appears in Charleroi with the Redpath Chautauqua, which opens here on the 27th of June and continues for one week, is spoken of as a genius of three-sided gifts. He had a record in educational work and has sold verse and prose to fifty magazines, among them the Lady's Home Journal, Life, Munsey and many others, and is the author of three books. He grew up in the study of men and their problems and is a destinguished sociologist, both writing and speaking upon social themes. He will deliver his lecture the first night of the Chautauqua.

The College Singing Girs will give a concert both afternoon and evening of the opening day. Five talented, versatile and attractive young women compose the College Singing Girls Company. They present selections from grand and light opera and popular songs. Sacred songs will be rendered in harmony with the day. Reading and character impersonations are a pleasing part of the program.

The above program is very fitting for Sunday and will be instructive and pleasing to every one present.

CHILDREN ARE TAKEN FROM CUSTODY OF THEIR FATHER

Is Charged with Inhuman Treatment, Which Results in Arrest

A FINE WAS ALSO IMPOSED

On an information made before Justice Whitehead, by Chief Albright, acting as humane officer for the borough of Charleroi, Cero Rille, of Fallowfield avenue, near Third street, was given a hearing Monday evening on a charge of cruelty to his children.

The attention of the authorities was called to the actions of Rille on Saturday evening, when it was asserted that he had badly abused one of his sons, a boy of tender years, as well as his daughter Rosie, who was acting as housekeeper as well as mother to three younger children.

It appears that the sister had sent a younger brother to the store Saturday evening for some vegetables. When the boy returned he placed them on the floor, where the sister asked him to count them. The father being present at the time ordered the boy to leave them alone, who did not respond instantly. The father became enraged and struck the boy, when the sister appealed in his behalf. This appeared to turn the anger of Rille to his daughter, and he viciously assaulted her, striking her behind the ear and felling her to the floor, rendering her unconscious.

This attack on the children was soon made known to the neighbors and Chief Albright called. He had a warrant sworn out against Rille, who was bound over for a hearing last night before Justice Whitehead. After hearing the testimony the Justice fined him $40 and costs as well as taking Rille's four children from him, and for the time being placing them with an aunt. Later it is proposed to find homes for them, and place them under a different environment.

It is charged that Rille, whose wife is dead, was particularly harsh to two older daughters while they were living, and that at times he had assaulted them with a heavy club, and only interference on the part of neighbors saved them from bodily harm. The Justice could only impose a fine on the offender, and direct that the children be taken from him. The amount of the fine will be paid over to the county.

INSPECTION AND MUSTER ON THURSDAY EVENING

The inspection and muster of Company A, Tenth Regiment, at Monongahela, will take place Thursday evening of this week, with Col Martin of Waynesburg in charge Capt. Gee, in command of the Company has recently added a fine lot of gymnasium equipment to the armory, which is proving to be quite an attractive feature for the young men now in the organization. The Company, with other units of the National Guard, will go into camp at Mt. Gretna the latter part of July.

CENSUS BUREAU GIVES CHARLEROI 11,516

According to the figures sent out by the Census Bureau today the population of Charleroi in 1920 is 11,516 a gain during the past ten years of 1,901. Monongahela, 8,688, a gain of 1,090. Canonsburg population is 10,682. In 1910 the population of Canonsburg was given as 3,891 or a gain of 6,741, which makes that borough fourth town in the county, replacing Monongahela, which held that distinction in 1910. Many residents thought Charleroi would go as high as 13,000 population, but evidently the enumerators could not find that many people, so that officially for the next ten years, we will be rated according to the figures given out by the Census Bureau.

STEAMBOATMEN'S STRIKE OFFICIALLY DECLARED OFF

It is reported that an official of the 'Longshoreman's Union of New York was in Pittsburg on Monday, and directed the local organization to call off the strike which began about six weeks ago on the local rivers. The New York is reported to have said the local strike was illegally called, and that the men were to return towork at once. The strike however caused the steamboat owners but little difficulty, as all boats were detined but slightly because of the action of the union.

BRIDGE FLOOR IS IN NEED OF REPAIR

The floor of the Belle Vernon bridge is reported as being in bad shape and it is pointed out that some accident is apt to happen unless repairs are made at once. There is a great deal of heavy hauling over the structure particularly of coal and fear is expressed that this traffic may ultimately cause some serious accident. The bridge being a joint county structure, the Commissioners of both counties would have to agree to the character of repairs to be made.

Paul McBride, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McBride who recently underwent an operation at the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, is recovering at a very satisfactory rate.

DONORA SECURES ITS CHAUTAUQUA GUARANTEE

Donora has secured the required guarantee, and as a consequence will have the Coit-Alber Chautauqua again next year. The Chautauqua was opened this year under very unfavorable circumstances, rains and storms making it anything but agreeable for such entertainments. However, in spite of this handicap the people have generously responded and the Chautauqua will be a feature again next year.
